■ PERSONAL INFORMATION

I am an undergraduate student majoring in chemistry in Hongyi Honor School. From the moment I was exposed to chemical reactions, I developed a strong interest in chemistry. With the deepening of my study, I gradually understand the responsibilities that I need to shoulder in studying chemistry, but I am willing to take it. In high school, I learned about chemistry competitions and gained a better understanding of chemistry, and my initial interest turned into a lasting passion. So after entering university, I chose chemistry as my future development direction. I hope I can make my own contribution to the good life of mankind in the future.

I am cheerful and lively in life and like to chat with others. I love cycling and listening to music. Listening to my favorite songs and measuring the earth with the wheels of my bike is a very attractive thing for me. I can harvest tranquility and sedimentation in the process.
